Feeling Silly - 750 points

Feeling Lucky - 100-2000 points

Rules Video:

Welcome, folks! My name is Chip. I'll be your waiter. This evening, we are honored to present to you our Mystery Menu. Chef-crafted specialties, each paired with its own point value. The exact ingredients of your selection will remain a mystery until your order is placed. Complete the dish as served, and the points are yours. In the spirit of hospitality, the team currently trailing in points will order first.

The leading team will then choose from the remaining courses.

Bon appetite!

Props:

2 Giant Menus

Feeling Smart - None

Feeling Hungry - Metal Serving Tray/Cover & Warhead(s)

Feeling Silly - None

Feeling Lucky - 8 Bills & Blacklight Flashlight (if necessary)

Rounds:

1 course per team. 2 Courses per playthrough

Post Video Instructions/Clarification:

Welcome, folks. My name is [NAME]. Have you dined with us before? No? Excellent. In that case, allow me to introduce our Mystery Menu. [Pass out menus]

Today's menu features four dishes, and each team may choose one. Ordinarily, I'd invite questions about the menu, but unfortunately, I won't be able to answer any of them.

[Trailing team], you'll make the first selection. Then the [leading team] will choose from the remaining options. (If teams are tied, software will randomly choose a team to go first. Look at iPad to see who it chose!)

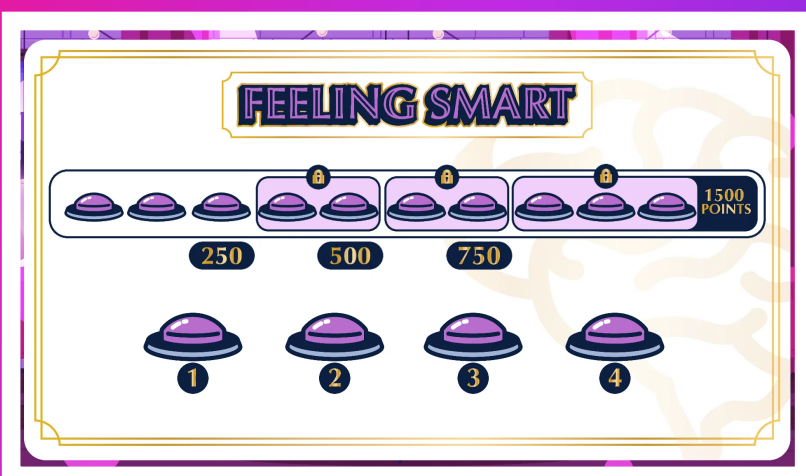

[Trailing team], what'll you have today? [Makes choice] Excellent Choice! [Leading Team], the other team selected [X Course] which means you can choose from the remaining 3. What are you feeling? [Makes choice]

Delicious! Let's start with our [Trailing Team]. [Proceed with one course then award points and move to other course]

Additional Info

What if the opposing team questions your judging decisions?

It is up to you to be a fair and impartial judge. Be firm but fair. It is ultimately your call and up to you to be equal towards both teams. If there is ever a discrepancy that can't be sorted, award both teams equal points and move on.

What if one team is distracting during the Reveal of the buzzer order in Feeling Smart?

This is not technically against the rules. Remind the guessing team to pay VERY close attention to the order as you will not be able to repeat it.

What counts as "making a face" in Feeling Hungry?

Keep a good close-up look on the person's face and even encourage the other team to film them if you want! Any face that isn't just someone "chewing" or moving something around in their mouth will count. Any squint or grimace or tear will count as making a face. The opposing team will most likely call out EVERYTHING they see. Use your best discretion. Be firm but fair!

Are there any rules for Feeling Hungry?

The players must NOT hold the warhead in their teeth for the duration of the time. They must move it around their mouth for at least the first few seconds.

How do you run Feeling Lucky?

Before you reveal the lights, present the 8 bills to the team and ask them to choose 4. This restaurant pays you! How amazing!

After they have selected the four bills, have one person hold each bill (or hold multiple if less than 4 on the team) and stand in the middle of the studio. Make sure the bill is facing TOWARDS their body except for the first player who faces it out. Bring down the lights of the studio. Award the first amount and have the other players turn around their bills in dramatic fashion and award those points.

HIGHLIGHT REEL HELP:

Record guests eating the Warhead, performing the silly dance, getting all 10 buzzers, and revealing the 1000 point bill!

What if a team does not fully participate in the Feeling Silly activity?

The ENTIRE team must DANCE AND SING the song in order to get the points. If they make a sincere effort to try the dance and fail at it, that still counts as succeeding! If they don't even try, that counts as a fail!

Make sure to have the opposing team get out their cameras and film to be able to use the footage later to embarrass their competition!

What if both teams want to play again?

Great! The best option is to have them either choose from the two options not selected the first time, or to choose something they did not pick the last time.

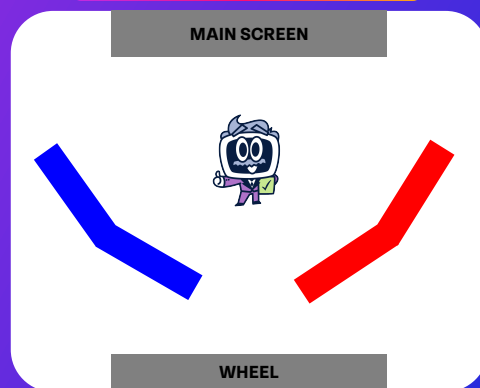

What if a team knows they made a mistake in Feeling Smart and wants to start over?

Just like a spelling bee, a team can start over ONE time per round. You will hit the Clear Buzzers button to allow them to start over. Caution them their second time to input carefully! We must accept their second answer.

How many points to award Feeling Hungry if there is only one person on the team?

In those situations where there are 2-3 contestants playing and the team that chooses Feeling Hungry only has one contestant, the prize for completing is 1000 points!

HOSTING POSITION

Scripting

FEELING LUCKY:

Alright team, let me present today's bill.
(Present bills face down.)

Please choose 4 out of these 8 bills.

Excellent. Let's find out how much you owe us today... Go ahead and flip them over!

Oh... they appear to be blank.

I totally forgot. Here at Great Big Game Show, we pay YOU! In points, of course.

But this is the Mystery Menu, which means the points themselves have to stay a mystery.

Can I have one team member come to the center with each selected bill?

Please hold your bills against your chest so nobody can see.

First contestant, turn your bill toward everyone in the studio.

We're going to make a dramatic lighting change and reveal just how much we'll be paying you today.

You could be walking out with as little as 100 points...or as many as 2,000 points!

Let's see what your bill is worth!
(Lighting change.)

Alright, next contestant, give us a dramatic reveal and flip your bill!

(Score points and continue through all contestants.)

Congratulations, team! Great Big Game Show will be paying your team X points for dining with us today.

FEELING SILLY:

Time to get a little silly.

To earn credit, everyone must fully sing and attempt the dance.

Other team, go ahead and get your phones out and capture the moment...strictly for future embarrassing material, of course.

Remember: singing and dancing are BOTH required.

Complete the challenge successfully, and you'll earn 750 points!

INTRO:

Welcome, folks. My name is [NAME]. Have you dined with us before?

No? Excellent. In that case, allow me to introduce our Mystery Menu.

Today's menu features four dishes, and each team may choose one.

Ordinarily, I'd invite questions about the menu, but unfortunately, I won't be able to answer any of them.

[Trailing team], you'll make the first selection. Then the [leading team] will choose from the remaining options.

[Trailing team], what'll you have today?

FEELING SMART:

We've got some brain food for you today.

Your challenge is to conquer our gauntlet of ten buzzers. We'll play a sequence of buzzers, and your job is to repeat that exact sequence by pressing the same buzzers in the same order.

We'll begin with a sequence of three buzzers, and along the way you'll have opportunities to stop and walk away.

If you successfully complete the full sequence of ten buzzers, you'll earn 1,500 points.

One warning: each sequence will only be played once.

Ready? Here comes your first sequence.

FEELING HUNGRY:

Hope you brought your appetite today!

First, decide which teammate will take on this challenge.

Alright, here's today's meal. Please choose one.

Your challenge is simple: last 30 seconds without making a face. That means no squinting, smirking, tearing up, smiling, frowning, or any other reaction.

One important rule: you may not hold the candy in your teeth, it must stay on your tongue for the entire 30 seconds.

If you make it the full 30 seconds, you'll earn 500 points.

If the entire team is participating: every team member must last the full 30 seconds, and no one can make a face. The candy must remain on your tongues the entire time.
